Worked with a variety of clients to create and manufacture custom solutions that united historic lumber with purposeful design. This involved face-to-face engagement with individual and corporate clients to develop work that fit the design brief. I also interacted with internal development teams to ensure feasibility of design. With this position, I had the opportunity to source hardware and materials in order to execute unique builds that fulfilled the design vision. With every project, I was actively involved from the sketch phase to final production.
